PROGRAM

TENOR/BASS VOICES

Cantate Domino

Hans Leo Hassler
(1564-1612)

*Sing to the Lord a new song; sing to the Lord, all the earth.
Sing to the Lord, and bless his name: announce his salvation from day to day.
Announce his glory among the nations and his wonders to all peoples.*

Jünglingswonne

Franz Schubert
(1797-1828)

So long as your noble mystery envelops me, nature, in this German oak valley, and, by the ghostly light of the moon, Wodan's eagle hovers around me;

So long as a thousand heavens open up to me in the glances of the one I have chosen, and with a rapture that turns me into a god we go through life arm in arm;

So long we clink the cup of union in devotion in the circle of brothers, and everyone follows our ancestors and sings the praises of Tell and Hermann:

I shall cast my cares to the winds, I shall devote a wreath to those moments, and even as the angel of death descends, I shall strew my path with roses!

The Morning Trumpet

Michael Richardson

High Flight

Karen Robinson
(b. 1967)

Darest, O Soul

Mari Esabel Valverde
(b. 1987)

arr. Theodore Hicks

SOPRANO/ALTO VOICES

Duo Seraphim

Tomás Luis de Victoria
(1548-1611)

*Two seraphim cried to one another: Holy is the Lord God of Sabaoth.
The whole earth is full of his glory.
There are three who bear witness in heaven: the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit:
and these three are one.*

Abschied

Fanny Mendelssohn Hensel
(1805-1847)

*In the evening the wood already rustles from the deepest grounds;
above the Lord will soon light the stars.
How silent in the chasms! Just evening breezes in the wood.
Everything goes to its rest. As the world vanishes, shuddering, the wanderer listens, yearning deeply for home.
Here in the green hermitage of the forest, heart, at last, you too go to rest.*

渔光曲 (Yü guang qü)

Ren Guang
(1900-1941)

*Clouds float in the sky over the sea; the fish are hiding in the water;
The fishing nets dry in the morning sun, the wind blows over the sea.
The tide rises, the waves surge, the fishing boats drift east and west.
Cast the net, pull the rope tight, work hard in the smoke until the fish come.
Catching fish is hard, rent is high, fishing people have struggled for generations.
We carefully rely on the broken net that our grandfather left for another winter.*

*Twilight emerges in the east now; the stars are hidden in the sky.
In the morning the fishing boat returns. The wind blows head on, bringing the tide.
The sky is already light, my strength is already gone.
Looking wearily at the fishing village road, my back already aches, my hands are swollen.
We caught fish, but we are hungry. The fish I caught don't fill the basket.
The eastern sun is red again.
The broken boat that grandpa left we carefully rely on for another winter.*

Blue Skies
